

We are pleased to announce that Professor Tomohito Kameda has received the "Editor of Distinction Award 2026" (Editorial Contribution Award) from Springer Nature.

This award recognizes his dedicated editorial contributions and support for the research community through his work with the journal Scientific Reports. Our laboratory remains committed to contributing to the advancement of scientific discovery and supporting the broader research community.